

How do I connect to class if I'm a distance student?

If you are outside of campus, you will join the class via BlueJeans (Blackboard Collaborate and Skype are back-up options). The first day of class (Wednesday, January 16), your campus may not yet be open to students. If that is the case, simply connect through a personal computer or mobile device. Everyone should be able to be in a physical classroom starting on Monday, January 21. There should also be a technology person in the classroom to help you connect to Texas Wesleyan through BlueJeans. If not, connect through your computer or mobile device. Always have your own device with you in case the campus technology has a glitch.
